About ten others were slightly hurt, but not so badly as to prevent them from coutinuing their journey. It was 6 this evening before the tracks were cleared. The wounded in the hospital are all doing well.
As far as can be learned there was no negligence on the part of the railroad company. The train simply jumped the track at the frog.

The screams of the men who were being BURNED TO DEATH

BURNED TO DEATH

In the smoking car could be heard above the noise of escaping steam and the roaring of the flames.

Conductor Poole says the train was 15 minutes late, but was not running more than 30 miles an hour when the accident happened, as the orders are that trains must not run at that particular piace at a greater speed than 30 miles. The place where the accident occurred is considered dangarous, as there is a switch on rather a sharp curve, hence the precaution of running slowly. Seven cars, a baggage car, two first-class coaches, a smoker, a first-class day coach and two Wagner sleepers were turned, there being not a vestige of wood, or anything that would burn, left. One car, the baggage car, was demolished. The engine is a complete wreck. The loss to the company will be enormous.

Many of those on the train were going to New York to participate in the centennial festivities. Most of the passengers lost all or a portion of their baggage and clothing, and a large amount of mails were destroyed by fire.

and a large amount of mails were destroyed by fire.

Another account of the accident says: The remains of from 16 to 18 men were taken out of the wreck. They were cut to pieces almost to a man, and burned beyond all possibility of recognition. They were huddled together in a heap at the end of the smoker phined in by timbers, which made it impossible for them to extricate themselves. Nothing could be done for them, as the fierceness of the fiames made it out of the question for men to rescue them. The only way in which it could be ascertained that from 16 to 18 bedies had been taken out was from the fact that legs and arms correspending to about that number were found. The remains were taken to the City Heaptist, and placed in the morgue awaiting identification. An inquest will be held temorrow. In all probability it will be days before the dead are identi-fied. Some of the wounded were also taken to the City Hospital.

A SURVIVOR'S STORY.

A SUBVIVOR'S STORY.

SUSPENSION BEIDGE (N. Y.), April 28.—
A special train on the Grand Trunk came today at about 1:40 p.m., having on board about 75 of the passengers that were in the accident that occurred a short distance west of Hamilton this morning. Among them were four men who were badly cut and injured about the head and body.

Malcolm McKay of Boston, in relating his experience, said: "I have no idea how! got out of the wreck, but would not be surprised if I went through the window, as the doctor took several pieces of glass from cuts in my head. I have a faint remembrance of two men helping me to stand, but I was half way here before I clearly understood what had happened."

It is feared that Hill Phillips of Chicago, first baseman of the Hamilton team, was among the killed. He was expected to report today.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

Burnuda, April 28.—The American ship Richard H. Burk, from Philadelphia for San Francisco, before reported here in distress, was discovered to be on fire April 19th. Owing to the inflammable nature of a large portion of her cargo, kerosene, whisky, etc., the ship soon burned to the water edge. She was of 2490 tons burden, and had a cargo of 2194 tons of general merchandise. Roughly estimated, the vessel and cargo represented half a million.

Wants to Fight Jackson. Wants to Fight Jackson.

Sr. Paul., April 38.—Billy Wilson, the colored heavy-weight, says he has received two fetters from the California Athletic Club asking him to meet Jackson, and he will accept at once. He is confident that he can beat the Australian and show his good faith. He says he will fight for a purse of $2500, the loser to get nothing.

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

PROF." SULLIVAN KILLED AT SAN BERNARDINO.

He Dies by the Hand of a Mother Who Says He Assaulted Her Child-The Dead Man's Antecedents.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN BERNARDING, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] This morning Mrs. Mattle Mariette, who keeps a lodging-house, walked down the street in front of Carson Bros.' saloon, and stepping up to an old man named Prof. Sullivan, a dancing teacher of this city, shook hands with him and said "Good morning," and then fired, mortally wounding him.

Sullivan ran to a barber's shop, when she shot a second time at him. She fired a third time at him as he ran through the saloon.

None but the first shot took effect. Sullivan ran to the backyard of the salcon, where he fell doad. He leaves a wife and family in San José. The woman is an old resident of this city. She expressed no regret at committing the She expressed no regret at committing the leed, and says she killed Sullivan because Sullivan, the victim of yesterday's tragedy at San Bernardino, was well known in this city, and as an old-timer on the coast generally, having practiced the calling of dancing master for many years and in various towns in the State. Some four years ago he had a dancing school in this city at the old Merced Hall on Main street. While here he was once arrested for assaulting a colored girl, but the case fell through. He sold out his business in this city and went to San Bernardino in the summer of 1885.

The Bostonians Coming.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The Bostonians, the well-known opera troupe, started this even-ing in a special train of Pullman cars for their Pacine Coast tour. An informal re-ception was held, and elegant collation served for an hour before the train's de-parture. The company will visit Los Au-geles, San Francisco, Sacramento, Denver and other western cities, the tour being un-der the management of Will J. Davis. The past week of the Bostonians at the Hay-market has been very successful.

NEARING THE DAY

New York Prepares for the Centennial.

Elaborate Decorations All Over the Metropolis.

The City Already Crowded by Throngs of Sightseers.

President Harrison and a Distinguished Company Leave Wash-ington to Take Part in the Ceremonles.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, April 28.—[By the Associated Presa.] The Sabbath day was broken by the sound of hammers on the line of march of the great centennial parade today. The rains of the past two days had put a stop to all work of decoration, and when the clouds began to break away work was resumed without a moment's loss of time.

The chief interest seems to center at the Washington-square end of Fifth avenue, where the first great arch strotches from curb to curb. The arch is built entirely of wood, and is ornamented with a frieze of garlands and laurel wreaths in papier maché. It was painted very white, and is surmounted by a carved wood statue of Washington 10 feet high. This is the statue that is said to have been first erected on the Battery in 1792. At the foot of the statue is a large trophy of national flags, and from the four corners rich streamers are extended to the cornices of neighboring residences. Four large trophies of flags are on each side, and upon either keystone is perched a fine specimen of the American eagle. The arch is also being fitted with colored electric lights, and at night will present a most beautiful appearance.

The First Presbyternian Church, between fitted with colored electric lights, and at night will present a most beautiful appearance.

The First Presbyternian Church, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, will be utilized for an immense stand, and the buildings on the other side of the way present a very brilliant front.

Up at the corner of Fourteenth street the grand armory first attracts attention with a trophy of flags over each window, and flags are dropped over every side of the large Hanover apartment-house on the corner of Fifteenth street.

At the corner of Twenty-first street the South Reform Church-yard is filled with stands. The Union Club is beautifully decorated. Nothing was done today toward the completion of the decorations of the arch at Twenty-third street, but it is said that four hours will suffice to transform it from its present rain-soaked appearance into a veritable picture of lightness and life. Looking through the arch one sees first four golden eagles in the midst of trophles of flags that surmount each window on the corner of the Albermarie Hotel. The same idea is being carried out in the ornamentation of the Broadway and Twenty-fourth street sides of the hotel, and the effect is very pretty. The Hoffman House people have been lavish in the expenditure of money and taient.

Private residences innumerable and many of the clubbouses on Fifth avenue are also handsomely decorated, while others will be finished tomorrow. Such crowds as were on the absent today were never seen before in New York on Sunday. Fifth avenue and Madison square were almost impassable, while lower Broadway and Wall street were packed. The crowd was drawn to Wall street and vicinity to view the scene of decorations of the new Sub-treasury beliding and custom-house.

Tonight the finishing touches are being not on the piers at the food of Wall street.

decorations of the new Sub-treasury beliding and custom-house.

Tonight the finishing touches are being put on the pier at the foot of Wall street, where the President will land tomorrow. It is pier No. 16, East River. The pier is 450 feet leng, and is divided into two apartments by means of two large curtains suspended from beams. The part facing the river will be decorated only with large American flags on the roof. The part of the pier facing South street is covered with decorations. Over one hundred large American flags are draped over it, supported by coats of arms of the various States and a number of streamers are hung from every peint. A float is arranged for the Presidential party to land upon. It is covered with carpet and concealed at the side with bunting. Exto land upon. It is covered with carpet and concealed at the side with bunting. Ex-tending from plers Nos. 16 and 17 are strung two lines of streamers. Sixty flags and many streamers decorate the roofs flats and many streamers decorate the roots of the piers.

The tardy decotation of the city hall has also been finished tonight. The Sabbath was not observed among the craft of all kinds on the river today. Everything was being put into shipshape for tomorrow. Many steamers already have their bunting flying, and on all the work of overhauling decorations to have them in readiness for the early morning hours was being pushed rapidly. THE PRESIDENT'S PARTY.

A Distinguished Company Starts for the Centennial.

Washington, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] About 5 o'clock this afternoon a magnificently-appointed train of cars pulled up at the siding at Sixth street just outside of the Pennsylvania Railroad station. It was the train to bear the Presicars pulled up at the siding at Sixth street just outside of the Pennsylvania Railroad station. It was the train to bear the President and party to New York to attend the centennial celebration. It was soon surrounded by a throng of Sunday sight-seers. The cars form the most gorgeous and best-appointed train ever run in America or in the world. They are lighted by electricity, heated by steem and are flitted up with every appliance that luxury could desire. The committee to escert the President came from New York today and called on the President, Diplomatic Corps and other high officers.

The train was drawn up inside the yard early in the evening to await the arrival of the guests. Lieut Mason and Mrs. Mason were the first to arrive. Justice Blatchford, Justice Field and Chief Justice Fuller came down about 10 o'clock. It was 12:40 when the President and party passed through the gates. There was quite a crowd gathered in the station, but the way was quickly made and the party passed through the gates. A CENTENNIAL SERMON.

ELOQUENT DISCOURSE BY REV. DR. TALMAGE.

No Nation in a More Glorious Con dition Than the United States-The Cause of the American Colonies and the Great Revolution -Different Varieties of Lies.

BROOKLYN, April 28.—[Authorized report for the Los Angeles Times.] At the Tabernacle today the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached a sermon appropriate to the coming centennial. The vast congregation sang the hymn beginning:

"Before Jehovah's awful throne, Ye nations bow with sacred joy."

Dr. Talmage's text was II Kings vi, "And the Lord opened the eyes of 17: "And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw; and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha." He said:

As it cost England many regiments and $2,000,000 a year to keep safely a troublesome captive at St. Helena, so the King of Syria sends out a whole the King of Syria sends out a whole army to capture one minister of religion—perhaps 50,000 men to take Elisha. During the night the army of Assyrians came around the village of Dothan, where the prophet was staying. At early daybreak the man servant of Elisha rushed in and said: "What shall we do? There is a whole army come to destroy you. We must die, we must die." But Elisha was not scared a bit, for he looked up and saw the mountains all around full of supernatural forces, and he knew that if there were 50,000 Assyrians against him there were $100,000 angels for him; and in answer to the prophet's prayer in behalf of his afrighted man servant, the young man saw it too. Horses of fire harnessed to chariots of fire, and drivers of fire pulling reins of fire on bits of fire; and warriors of fire with brandished sword of fire, and the brilliance of that morning sunrise was eclipsed by the galloping splendors of the celestial cavalcade. "And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw; and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha." I have often spoken to you of the Assyrian perils which threaten our American institutions, but now as we are assembling to keep centennial celebration of the inauguration of Washington, I speak of the upper forces of the text that are to fight on our side. If all the low levels are filled with armed threats, I have to tell you that the mountains of our hope and courage and faith are full of the horses and chariots of divine rescue.

Allegory of The Charlot of Fire. army to capture one minister of redecessors in depth of snow and horrors of congealment. Elisha, surrounded by the whole Assyrian army, did not seem to be worse off than did the thirby the whole Assyrian army, did not seem to be worse off than did the thirteen colonies encompassed and overshadowed by foreign assault. What decided the contest in our favor? The upper forces, the upper armies. The green and white mountains of New England, the highlands along the Hudson, the mountains of Virginia, all the Appalachian ranges were full of reënforcements which the young man Washington saw by faith, and his men endured the frozen feet, and the gangrened wounds, and the exhausting hunger, and the long march, because "the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw; and, behold, the mountains were full of horses and charlots of fire round about Elisha." Washington himself was a miracle. What Joshua was in sacred history the first American President was in secular history. A thousand other men excelled him in different things, but he excelled them all in roundness and completeness of character. The world never saw his like, and probably never will be another such exigency. He was let down a divine interposition. He was from God direct.

I do not know how any man can

I do not know how any man can read the history of those times with-out admitting that the contest was de-cided by the upper forces. THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CIVIL

Then, in 1881, when our civil war pened, many at the North and at the outh pronounced it national suicide. South pronounced it national suicide. It was not courage against cowardice, it was not wealth against poverty, it was not large States against small States. It was heroism against heroism, it was the resources of many generations against the resources of many generations, it was the prayer of the North against the prayer of the South, it was one-half the Nation in armed wrath meeting the other half of the Nation in armed indignation. What could come but extermination?

At the opening of the war the Commander-in-Chief of the United States forces was a dear old man, with gout and vertigo and asthma, who could not mount a horse, and he rode on the battlefield in a carriage, asking the driver not to jolt it too much. During the most of the four years of the contest, on the Southern side was a man in mid-life, who had in his veins the blood of many generations of warriors, bimself one of the harman of the surface.

lism and a strength and a determination that the world had never seen marshaled. And what but extermination could come when Phillip Shertdan and Stonewall Jackson met, and Nathaniel Lyon and Sidney Johnston rode in from North and South, and Grant and Lee, the two thunderbolts of battle, clashed? Yet we are a Nation, and yet we are at peace. Earthly courage did not decide the conflict. The upper forces of the 'ext. They tell us there was a battle fought above the clouds on Lookout Mountain; but there was something higher than that. Again the horses and chariots of God came to the rescue of this nation in 1876, at the close of a Presidential election famous for devilish ferceity. A darker cloud yet settled down upon this Nation. The result of the election was in dispute, and revolution, not between two or three sections, but revolution in every town and village and city of the United States, seemed imminent. The prospect was that, New York would throttle New York and New Orleans would grip New Orleans, and Boston, Boston, and Savannah, and Washington. Washington. Some said Mr. Tilden was elected; others said Mr. Hayes was elected; and how near we came to universal massacre some of us guessed, but God only knew. I sacribe our escape not to the honesty and righteousness of infuriated politicians, but I ascribe it to the upper forces of the text. Chariots of merry rolled in, and though the was not seen, yet all through the honofs did not clatter, the cavairy of merry rolled in, and though the was not seen, yet all through the honofs did not clatter, the cavairy of merry rolled in, and though the wheels were not heard and the flash was not seen, yet all through the honors and honor and the section was elected; and how near we see the condition of the research of the condition of the Men, whether or not they acknowledge what is right, have to think what is right. We have men who have had their hands in the public treastry the most of their lifetime, stealing all they could lay their hands on, discoursing eloquently about dishonesty in public servants, and men with two or three families of their own, preaching eloquently about the beauties of the seventh commandment. The question of sobriety and drunkenness is thrust in the face of, this Nation as never before, and to take part in our political contests. The question of national sobriety is going to be respectfully and deferentially heard at the bar of every Legislature and every House of Representatives and every United States Senate, and an omnipotent voice will ring down the sky and across this land and back again, saying to these rising tides of drunkenness which threaten to whelm home and church and Nation: "Thus far shalt thou come, but no further, and here shall thy proud waves be stayed."

I have not in my mind a shadow of disheartenment as large as the shadow of a housefly's wing. My faith is in the upper forces, the upper armies of the text. God is not dead. The chariots are not unwheeled. If you would only pray more and Tub your eyes from the sleep of indifference and wash them in the cool, bright, water, fresh from the will of Christian reform, it would be said of you as of this one of the text: "The Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha."

When the army of Antigonus went into battle his soldiers were very much discouraged, and they rushed up to the General and said to him: "Don't you see we have a few forces and they have so many more?" and the soldiers were affrighted at the smallness of their number and the greatness of the enemy. Antigonus, their commander, straightened himself up and said, with indignation and vehemence: "How many do you reckon me to be?" And when we see the vust armles arrayed

I confess I am ashamed to have a foreigner visit this country in such times. I should think he would stand dazed, his hand on his pocketbook, and dare not go out nights! What will the hundreds of thousands of foreigners who come here to live think of us, What a disgust they must have for the land of their adoption! The only good thing about it is, many of them cannot understand the English language. But I suppose the German and Italian and Swedish and French papers translate it all and peddle out the infernal stuff to their subscribers.

AMUSEMENTS.

TWO BIG ATTRACTIONS COM-ING TO LOS ANGELES.

On a Footing with Big Eastern Cities—Home Companies to Play from Los Angeles—A Dozon Editors Killed—New Operas and Plays-Notes and Personals.

The week just closed proves conclusively that Los Angeles is still the crack theatrical town of this coast, outside of San Francisco. When two big theaters and a flower festival can run to crowded business in a city of only 80 000 souls, it is nonsense for people to talk about hard times.

In a very short time Los Angeles will take a step forward in theatrical will take a step forward in theatrical matters which will put her on an equal footing with the eastern cities that pride themselves on taking a leading part in theatrical doings. Instead of going away from home for all of her amusements, Los Angeles will have several home companies, and when a new play or opera comes out it will be produced here almost as soon as in New York or any of the eastern cities. When these home companies are not playing in Los Angeles they will be on the road. Manager Wyatt will break the ice about the 1st of June. He has already engaged his leading people, and will introduce the new order of things at his Los Angeles Theater.

TWO BIG ATTRACTIONS.

The theater-goers have several treats allead of them in the near future. The Bostonians are on their way here. In speaking of their appearance in San Francisco Music and Drama says:

For the past six years the principal singures of this company have been unreservedly classed as the leading singers of the English stage. Their success in the eastern art centers has been uniformly great and unqualified, and they have never as yet extended their tours west of Deuver. Manager Hayman of the Baldwin and Manager Vill Davis of the Haymarket, Chicago, are the projectors of the present enterprise and assume all the risk. The company is playing this week at the Haymarket, and Manager Hayman is in receipt of a telegram stating that they are packing the theater nightly is the face of such opposition as the big Motrepolitan German Opera Company and the Emma Abbott Company. From Chicago the company go direct to Loc Angeles, siaying there one week and then coming to the Baldwin. The personnel of the company includes Marie Stone, Jessie Bartiett Davis, Juliette Corden, Carlotta Maccode, Josephine Bartiett, Louise Blanchi, Tom Karl, W. H. McDonaid, H. C. Barnabee, Edwin Hoff, Eugene Cowies, George Frothingham, Fred Dixon, etc., and they will present a répertoir including Mignom, Fatinitza, Don Pasquale, The Musiceters, Bohemlam Grif, Pugmallon and Galatea, The Poachers, Fra Diavole and over 20 other standard operas and recent successes. There is no hesitancy necessary in pronouncing this the musical dyent of the season.

and over 20 other standard operas and recent successes. There is no hesitancy neccentary in pronouncing this the musical event of the season.

Lord Chumley will be here on the 13th of May for a week's engagement.
It is having a most successful run at the Baldwin, San Francisco, and is spoken of as "one of the most amusing and thoroughly interesting plays presented for years." In speaking of Lord Chumley, Music and Drama pays Los Angeles a high compliment in the following language: "E. H. Sothern and his company will play only at Los Angeles in this State, and very few other points between here and Naw York, as upon the departure" of the New York Lyceum Company from its home theater Mr. Sothern puts on Lord Chumley there for a second summer's run."

THIS WEEK. There is but little going on in the amusement world this week. This evening Goodyear, Cook & Dillon's Minstrels open a week's engagement at the Grand. The sale of seats is very good, and, as this is the first minstrel froupe that has visited Los Angeles for some time, it ought to do a big business

big business
The main attraction of the week will be the appearance of the Owl Dramatic Club at the Los Angeles Theater on Thursday evening. They will give two plays—Our Boys Thursday and Friday evenings, and Everybody's Friend Saturday evening. The amateurs are in the hands of G. A.
Dobinson, which insures the success of the performances.

NOTES AND PERSONAL.

Mantell in Monbars and Rose Coghlan in Joselyn will visit this city during the summer.

The American Opera Company, carrying 80 people, will be out here this fall.

The Silent Pariner is a new play written for J. B. Polk, and will be out here in June.

During the next season Dan Frohman will manage seven companies. The Silvacavav is booked for this coast in the fall.

Music and Drama says: "Lily Langtry's cousin, Mr. Martin, has a wife and five children dependant upon him, and five children dependant upon him, and is at present earning a scanty living by selling the 'Pigs in the Clover' on the streets of New York. The prospective Mrs. Gebhard will not see her poor relation. Being in the clover herself, she don't care whether the rest of the family get there or not."

Next mouth Henry Paulton's new opera, Paola, will be produced for the first time in Chicago. The music is by Jocoboski, the composer of Erminie, and is said to be very catchy.

An exchange gets off a good thing at Joe Grismer's expense. It says: "At Chico recently, a young girl shot herself after seeing the Grismer-Davies company play The World Against Her. It is not known whether it was remorse or the acting that preyed upon her mind."

Rose Eytinge is on her feet again, after her illness, and is preparing for Rose Eytinge is on her feet again, for her illness, and is preparing for tour of the Pacific Coast.

Col. John McCaull sailed for Europe april 18th in search of health, and indentally any new material in the hape of operas that he can find.

It is said that the New York Stage in receipt of a letter from an enter-orising showman who desires to secure dirs. Langtry, Mrs. Potter, Maggle Mitchell and Pauline Hall to discuss n public "Is Marriage a Failure?" Phair late "hubbies" could probably liscuss the subject more aatisfactorily.

discuss the subject more satisfactorily.

Music and Drama says: "Minnie Palmer will essay tragedy next season. John Rogers is having a play written in which five or six editors are killed in the first act, and he has got money enough to sit in front and enjoy it every night if nobody else attends the performances. He believes that the wholesale slaughter of editors will strike the popular taste and secure targe patronage."

A Chicago woman has written a novel, the scene of which is laid in heaven. Efforts are being made to have william Gillette dramatize it and Lawrence Barrett assume the role of "King."

Why He Does not Leave Long Beach.

The Rev. James is still at Long Beach. He has sent his sister and adopted son to Fresno to his parents' home. There is a very strong feeling against him in Long Beach, and authentic information received yesterday is to the effect that if he attempts to remain there he will be asked to leave. Mrs. James is still at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Fell. James does not remain very closely housed, frequently being seen on the streets. Mr. Fell says that when the proper time comes Mrs. James will have some startling statements with which to sustain her allegations against the deposed pastor. James gives as a reason for his not deciding to leave Long Beach that he has no money with which to go.

New wealth is constantly being found in the soil of Southern California. Gov. ALGER expresses a high opinion of Puget Sound timber and looks to a great export eastward on the completion of an isthmus canal. The forests of Washington Territory have been drawn on for over thirty years without making a very large hole in them. An active eastern demand will hasten the clearing of the country, preparatory to the agricultural and business development which has now begun.

Among the candidates named to succeed Justice Stanley Matthews are Lawrence Maxwell of Cincinnati and William H. Taft, Judge of the Superior Court of Cincinnati, and a son of Hon. Alphonso Taft, Attorney General of the United States under President Grant. Senator Sherman is supposed to be a supporter of Judge Taft, and if the next Supreme Judge is to come from Ohio, he would seem to have everything in his favor except his age. He is but a little over 30, and if appointed and confirmed would be by many years the youngest Justice who has ever sat on the Supreme beach of the United States.

SENATOR SHERMAN is said to be a good deal out of patience with some of the newspaper accounts of his alleged misunderstanding with Senator Quay. He has been put in a very unfair, unjust light, and has a right to resent the treatment which he has The Washington correspondent of a Cincinnati paper tele-spondent of a Cincinnati paper telegraphs his journal as follows:

Senator Sherman is a good deal out of nationes with some of the newspaper accounts of his alleged misunderstanding with Senator Quay. He has been put in a very unfair, unjust light, and has a right to resent the treatment which he has received, senator Sherman was not responsible for the appointment of Hon. Alphonso Hart of Hillistorr to be Solicitor of the Internal Revenue, and of course was not aware till after it was made that Senator Quay had a man for the same place. He tuinks Ohio has a good a right to have a man put into this position as Pennsylvania, and says he is ignorant of any promises made by memorrs of the Ohio deagation to the Pennsylvania Senator by the terms of which Ohio was to advance no candidate for Solicitor of Internal Revenue.

REFORMERS ON REFORM.

With the increased extension of re earches in various branches of human activity, the tendency of the present age is more and more to divide lines of thought and action into specialties The days when a man could astonish the world with his knowledge of all branches of science and philosophy have gone by, and he who wishes to excel must now choose a limited field of study. This is no less true of social science than of the mechanical arts. Such being the case, the opin voted their lives to various branches of reform become very valuable, when they give their views as to what reforms are most needed in our social political and educational system. At the close of this first century, since the inauguration of the first President. such a symposium of opinions by leading reformers as that which has just been published by a literary syndicate is particularly appropriate and inter-

The question asked of a large num ber of the leading men and women of America was: "What great reform in our social, political or educational system is most needed and will advance us as a people?" This question was asked of a large number of the leading men and women of America A wide variety of answers were received, including An-drew Carnegie, the great iron king of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Frank Leslie, Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, late candidate for the Presidency; Prof. Sum ner of Yale College; George W. Cable the novelist; Rev. R. Heber Newton Augustin Daly, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Gen. Franz Sigel, the hero of so many battles; P. T. Barnum, the great showman; Gen. Greely and Prof. Abbe of the Signal Service Bureau; Prof. Ely of John Hopkins's University; Amélie Rives-Chanler, the young novelist of Virginia: Charles Oudley Warner, "Wizard" Edison Pension Commissioner Black, A. M. Palmer, Julian Hawthorne, Henry George, Surg.-Gen. Hamilton, Patrick Henry Egan, Prof. William Nelson Black and Erastus Wiman.

A wide variety of subjects are dis ussed. More liberality in religion, manual training in our schools, the necessity of a pure electoral system, the dangers wrought by indiscriminate charity, the benefits of building associations, the dangers of strong drink the abolition of child labor, the outrageous libel and slander laws, the axity of our divorce system, the restriction of immigration, the teaching of patriotism in the schoolroom. Those are some of the subjects touched upor by the foremost thinkers of the day.

Andrew Carnegie goes into the subect of giving; the moral of his argument being that, except when the charitable help those who help themselves, their aid produces more evil than good. George William Curtis naturally thinks that the reform of most pressing importance at this time is that of political methods, especially he effort for the regulation of the use of money at elections. George W. Cable, the novelist, deplores the forgetting of ideal political principles, and a general decline of what may be called political courage. He says: called political courage. He says:

What proposition—from the people at large—have we now before the Nation that is not confessedly prompted by fear; the tear that in this or that ideal direction we have gone further than is safe? Such fears are themselves dangerous; more subtly dangerous than the dangers they point to. If we can change the old maxim to read, "lutime of peace keep the courage of war," we may avert wars themselves. The nation that fears to take risks for progress in times of peace and comfort, shall take these risks by and by, without comfort and without peace.

Rev. Heber Newton, in addition to political and educational suggestions. has some excellent ones to make on the subject of land reform. He asks for the taxing of unimproved land in the suburbs of our cities up to the point which would bring it into the narket. Pension Commissioner Black is another who insists on the necessity of a pure ballot. Julian Hawthorne thinks we must begin at the beginning, and says the present school curriculum, methods and aims are "neary as bad as they can be." Gen. Hamilton calls for patriotism in the schoolroom. Prof. William Nelson Black makes the following strikson Black makes the following striking remarks on finance:

The greatest need for reform is in our financial system. We need a measure of reform which will enable men to become contributors to the capital by which the manifold coerations of industry and exchange are carried forward. The masses of men need a large stake in the well-being of society, and however small their income, the means of transmitting property to their families after death. There is a bill now pending before the Legislature of New York State entitled "An Act for the Incorporation of Bond Insurance Companies." It is a good bill and should be made a law. After it has been adopted all men will rapidly become capitalists by the ordinary process through which capitalists are made, and there will finally be no such thing as families left in poverty and distress through the death of their providera. Then we may look to see the condition of society rapidly improved, socially, politically, religiously—or morally and intellectually.

Gen. Sigel advocates further assistance from the Government to those who wish to settle in colonies on un improved land.

P. T. Barnum says the use of intoxicants as a beverage is the parent of most of our evils.

most of our evils.

Gen. Greely hits the nail very squarely on the head when he says:

It seems to me that the reform which will most advance us as a people would be the inculcating of the idea that every one should take sufficient interest in municipal, State and national affairs to cast at every election a hallot, and in further devising such legislation and methods as will secure the accurate count of ballots so cast.

True Christianity—"self-renouncing, all-absorbing service of human-ing, all-absorbing service of human-ity"—is what Prof. Ely considers the great reform needed. Charles Dudley Warner is another of those who would make bribery at elections im possible. Thomas A. Edison regards manual training as the great thing manual training as the great thing lacking. Finally, Erastus Wiman goes at great length into an advocacy of the somewhat novel and startling theory of the universal regulation of competition. "There is," says Mr. Wiman, "no luxury which the American people are finding quite so expensive today as that of unbridled competition."

tained in these interviews, of a few of which only we have given an out-line. What a pity that we cannot profit more by the ideas of people who have devoted a large portion of their lives to a consideration of the ad-vancement of their fellow-men! If we could only have an informal congress of social economists and philanthro-pists, whose ideas should be submitted to our law-making bodies, surely good might result. May we not hope that at the commencement of this second century of established free government, we may enter upon a better era of legislation, in which the statesman will take precedence over the politician? Let us hope so.

A NORTHERN BLAST.

nding the Unsoundness of the Sound.

SEATTLE (Wash.), April 24.—[Correspondence of The Times.] Many Los Angeles and Southern California people would no doubt be glad to hear about the condition of the real-estate business in Western Washington, which is said to be booming.

Let me say that the boom is over, as far as real estate is concerned. Both Tacoma and Seattle have been boomed way up, and property is held at exorbitant prices. The tenderfeet are beginning to see daylight, and they are not biting as readily as they did some six months ago. This country is bound to suffer as hard times as ever Southern California went through.

The land for miles around both Seattle and Tacoma has been platted into lots. Lots five mi es out of Tacoma 25x120 each, are selling for $250. Any man with common sense can see there is no money in this. To give you an example of how realestate is selling in Tacoma I will quote the following: About March 1st a realestate firm came up from San Diego. Cal., bought an option on a tract of land six miles out of Tacoma, platted it and called it Newark. They advertised the property in all the leading dailies, and had brass bands in Tacoma and Seattle. At the sale they couldn't and Seattle. At the sale they couldn't sell enough property to make their first payment, so they gave it up and returned deposit moneys, and are out the price of their option besides all advertising expenses. It is impossible to infuse any life into real estate now. It is dead.

Property in Tacoma and Seattle for the last four months has not advanced a dollar.

A good example of one of the boomed-to-death towns is Whatcom, 150 miles north of Seattle. Here is a town of not north of Seattle. Here is a town of not over 1000 people and property has sold as high as $150 a front foot.

Whatcom has no railroad—it only has a big prospect of getting one. It has a large sawmill, and the country around it consists of scrub timber, and it costs $100 an acre to get the stumps out of the land. In the face of all this they have the gall to say it is a fine farming country and that farming will pay.

pay.

Building is going on lively in all the Sound cities, but everyone I have seen agrees with me that property in all of the Puget Sound towns is too high and is bound to come down. There are a great many sick ones up here who six months ago'could have anloaded at a handsome profit, and who now find it impossible to get an offer.

I think that many of the moneyed men who have come here to invest will not put anything in here, and will more than likely visit Southern California before returning home. Even in this than likely visit Southern California before returning home. Even in this country you hear considerable talk of Southern California being the best place to invest at present. A preminent real-estate man of Seattle proposed to visit Southern California the coming winter for the sole purpose of investing money in bargains in real estate there. It does one good to visit this country and compare prices. I have felt as though Southern California property was cheap when I heard the real-estate agents quote their way-up, sky-high prices, on lots full of stumps, and on the sides of hills around Tacoma and Seattle.

GRINDING THE GOVERNOR. ian Francisco Physicians Severely

Score Mr. Waterman At the meeting of the Health Board of San Francisco on Thursday evening last Dr. Clinton read the following resolution:

"Resolved, that this board record its shocked amazement and deep disappointment at Gov. Waterman's inexplicable conduct in refusing to sign the bill unanimously passed by both houses of the Legislature, to provide for the appointment of additional Market and Health inspectors for this city and county, after having been requested to do so by His Honor diayor Pond and by Dr. Barger, Health Officer of this city, and after having been assured by these gentlemen that the enactment was imperatively demanded in the interest of the health and well-being of the people of San Francisco." esolution:

"Now, Mr. Chairman," said he, "I move the adoption of this resolution." "I second the motion with all my-heart," said Dr. Perry. "All those in favor—"

"One moment, Dr. Perry. "All mose in favor—"
"One moment, Dr. Perry. I have a few remarks to make," broke in Dr. Clinton.
"I exceedingly regret," said he, "the necessity that compels me to publicly censure the conduct of the chief executive officer of this State, but the peculiar circumstances under which His Excellency has seen fit to pocket the bill futnish ample justification for the course which I ask this beard to pursue.

the course which I ask this beard to pursue.

"His conduct, perhaps I abould say misconduct, shows his contempt for the opinion of those who are in a position to be best informed on the matter, and furnishes another proof of that reckless disregard which he has so frequently shown for the welfare of the people of this city. It is in keeping with his attempt to oust the members of this board and to turn out all the experienced and efficient officers and employés of the health department at the very time that every member was straining every nerve to stamp out a smallpox epidemic raging in our city.

"Nothing presents a more pitiful spectacle than a man of such slender abilities with so great a lack of moral capacity and such a superabundance of narrow-minded prejudice raised by an accident to a position of eminence, which, by reason of these traits, he constantly belittles and renders ridiculous.

onstantly belittles and renders ridiculous.

"It is painful to witness the Governor of a great State stopping to inflict serious blows upon the people of its metropolis in order to relieve his feelings of spite and chagrin at being balked in his attempt to remove from office those who have ever been faithful in the discharge of their duties. May California be spared the humiliation of a repetition of such a spectacle."

Their Meeting at Chicago Begun— Letter from Mme. Blavatsky. Cmcaco, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The American section of the Theosophical Society began its third annual meeting at the Palmer House today. In the merning session few were present, ex-cept the fifteen delegates. At the afternoon session there were a number of visitors, many of them women.

New York, was read, "It had been suggested," he said, "that dues and fees of the society be abolished. Mme. Blavatsky is opposed to doing this, and 1 do not recommend it. The new members or feliows since last meeting are 283. The local sections number 26, of which there are two each in New York. Chicago, Philadelphia and Los Anceles, three in St. Louis, and others distributed in smaller cities or towns.

The report was accepted.

Dr. Keightley of London, England, who was present as the representative of Mme. Blavatsky, the ruling spirit of the society, read a communication from her, chiefly devoted to exhortation and suggestions. The letter said:

"Col. Olcott, president of the society, is on a visit to Japan, invited by a strong and influential deputation to fecture there on Buddhism among a people who are mad and crazy to acquire western civilization, and who believe it can only be obtained by the suicidal adoption of Christianity."

A letter from Col. Olcott said he had preached his first Buddhist sermon in Japan on the day the new Japanese national constitution was formally announced.

Mme. Blavatsky's letter denounced as enemies of the cosophy the spiritualists to whom she referred as "blind worshipers of the illusionary phantoms of the dead."

There was also a request in the letter that the word "esoteric" be used less frequently, as it was a term that had been discredited by Boston people.

A DEADLY DUEL

ama Farmers Fight It Out with Dirk and Shotgun. Dirk and Shotgun.

OBATTANOOGA (Tenn.), April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] A duel occurred yesterday in Jackson county, Ala., and resulted in the death of one of the participants. Two farmers, neighbors, living some distance from Scottsborre, named J. T. Prince and J. T. Green, quarreiled on Friday over some trivial matter, and Green threatened to kill Prince, and he prepared himself with a shotgun. On Saturday morning the two men met in a public road, and immediately dismounted from their morning the two men met in a public road, and immediately dismounted from their horses and renewed the quarrel. They finally decided to fight it out.

Green made for Prince with a large dirk, making a vicious lunge at him. Prince dodged and selzed Green's arm and the deadly struggle began in earnest. Prince's gun was leaning against the fence, and the question with him was how to get it without being killed. With a sudden effort he tripped Green, throwing him to the ground, and immediately made a break for his gun, which he reached just as Green was in striking distance. Without leveling the gun Prince thrust the muzzle against his enemy's breast, pulled the trigger and enemy's breast, pulled the trigger and lodged a heavy load of buckshot in Green's breast, killing him instantly. Prince gave himself up and is now in jail to await trial.

Want to Be Sentimental.

[New York Graphic.]

Does it pay to be a "funny" man on the stage? Nat Goodwin has not hesitated to say for a long time back that he made a mistake in taking up faree roles instead of "the legitimate." Dixey, whose success has been the greatest of all in that line, declares that he, too, regrets the day that he began it, and now we have the inimitable "Billy" Crane declaring that hereafter his roles will have a pathetic as well as a comic side. The impressiveness of his one little pathetic scene in The Henrictta warrants this. "I've been on the stage twenty-five years," he said the other night, "and nearly all that time I've worked to make people laugh. You may make people laugh. You may make people laugh ever so long and so loudly, but if you hope to be remembered you must touch their hearts a little now and then."

STOCKTON, April 28.—[By the Associated Press.] A large crowd witnessed as hard fought a ten-inning game of ball today as was ever played on the Stockton diamond. Aside from an occasional wild throw, Harper pitched a grand game. The Sacramentos were only able to get six hits off his delivery. Happeman was very effective and held his opponents down to seven hits, striking out seven men and giving only two men bases on balls. Both pitchers re-base running was a feature of the game.

Sweeney by perfect play at first and a piece of generalship in the ninth won the game for the home club.

In the first inning Goodenough took a base on balls, stole second and third, and scored on Veach's three-bagger.

In the second inning for the Stocktons, after two men were out, howard took a base on balls, and schred on Harper's hit to right, which Sylvester failed to hold.

In the fourth the Sacramentos had scored two-runs, with two men on bases and two men out. Sweeney instructed Harper to send Jevne to first base on balls, which he did. This brought Newbert, a weak batter, to the plate, and he was retired by Stickney's throw to Sweeney.

"The entire Santa Fé system voted for and advocated the $1 rate on canned goods. The Santa Fé never opposed the 90-cent rate, except as a rate for a certain time, after which the $1.20 rate was to be put in. Considerable damage besides the loss of salls was done. The deckload of bananas was washed overfoard. Carpenter Johnson was washed overfoard, but was finally rescued. Chief Mate McDonaid had several ribs tractured, while one seaman had a rib broken. The cabin and forward house were filled with water.

A "MASHER" MASHED. ome of His Friends Put Up a Job on Him.

A young "masher" had an experience a few nights ago which, it is be-lieved, will effectually cure him of his bad habits. The party in question is employed in a livery stable on South Spring street, and is a very nice fellow and quite popular with his associates. His one great fault is that he thinks he oncerned, and this failing has on more than one eccasion came very near getting him into serious trouble. His employer and several triends determined to teach him a lesson, and accordingly a very touching note, written in a feminine hand, was sent to him. The writer had long admired him at a distance and wanted to make his acquaintance. Could he meet her that night at a certain place on a retired street, where she would be pleased to grant him an interview. He was cautioned to be very discreet, as her big brother was liable to cause trouble if he was caught about the family domicile at unseasonable hours. The young fellow bit and immediately answered the note, saying he would be there. The conspirators then dressed up one of their number in girl's clothing and sent him out to the rendezvous, while they went along to see the fun. The young fellow was promptly on hand, and was just hurrying forward to greet his fair inamorata when there was a wild yell from a clump of trees, and five or six stallwart men rushed forward and grabbed the trembling Lothario, while the girl disappeared in the darkness. The party had a pail that looked suspiciously like tar, and a big brush, and just as the victim was about making up his mind to suffer martyrdom the leader gave the signal and the party took off their masks and made themselves known. The young fellow was mad enough to bite a ten-penny nall in two, but the odds were sgainst him, and as acon as he cooled down he began to beg the boys not to give him away, saying that he would at quoe mend his ways and give no further cause for complaint. They promised not to divulge anything, and then all came back to town, when than one eccasion came very near get-ting him into serious trouble. His em-

TEMPERANCE TEMPLE.

INTERESTING SERVICES FORT AND TEMPLE.

The W.C.T.U. Building Formally Opened to the Public—The Exercises Yesterday Afternoon—The Programme as Carried Out.

There was a very interesting dedication yesterday afternoon of the Tem-perance Temple, corner of Fort and Temple streets. The temple, one of the commanding edifices of the city, was built by the Women's Christian perance Union societies of Los les. The exercises yesterday were in the nature of a more formal opening of the building than the pleasant Rainbow Bazar given in it three weeks ago. At 3 o'clock the hall was filled, and there were no vacant eats, either in the auditorium or gal-. The stage was very handsomely brated with flowers. A fringe of roses on cedar extended the entire width of the stage at the footlights. An upright bank of roses at the right formed a base for a beautiful star and shepherd crooks of yellow roses. To the left were several handsome floral pieces, an anchor, a lyre, and a square of white roses upon which, in geraniums, the letters, W.C.T.U., were diagonally placed.

The exercises began with an anthem, rendered by the star of t of white roses upon which, in geranioms, the letters, W.C.T.U., were diagonally placed.

The exercises began with an anthem, rendered by the Fort-street Methodist Church choir. Rev. William H. Pendleton offered the invocation. The quartette of the Young Men's Christian Association sang "Bowing at Thy Feet."

Rev. Mr. Pendleton read two passages from the Bible, the 98th Psalm and the two visions of Zachariah.

After the singing of a hymn by the choir, and prayer by Rev. T. C. Warner, Miss Leila Breed sang "The Rock of Ages" beautifully.

Miss Henrietta G. Moore of Ohio, the lecturer of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, was introduced to the audience, and delivered a short congratulatory address, which sparkled with wit and earnestness. She said that it gave her exceeding joy to bring the warmest greeting to the societies in Los Angeles from every State and Territory in the land. It gave her joy to bring a greeting from the mother, the National Union, and hoped God will be with both until the meeting in Chicago, when the National Temperance Temple is dedicated. She said she had wondered whether this temple would ever be completed. They heard in the East about the project, as they heard of other extraordinary things in California. She had been told about the wonderful mustard of Southern California, which grows so large that men and women climb up and sit on the branches; of the enormous pumpkins, immense beets and extraordinary strawberries, so large that ladder placed at their sides barely reached to the top. It was natural to wonder what this temple would be like. "I am glad that it has been successfully bullt," said the speaker. "It shows that you are such intelligent people that you know the vigorous demand that is growing up for the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor. There are some people even yet who cannot understand the reason for the movement. Who can-mand that is growing up for the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor. There are some people even yet who cannot understand the reason for the movement. Who cannot understand how it is we find people who will give us money to put in these temperance temples. But I take the position that the world is growing better. That there never was a year when philanthropy and divine sentiment was more active. We have found that even where no temperance literature has been sent there is a healthy se iment on the subject, and it is growing everywhere. The time is ripe for temperance reform. Emerson says that all ends are but temporary; but we find that there are still men who do not believe in disturbing the old order of thing, they say, Letthings alone. We will get along better by the old methods. These are the people who cannot see that moral suasion is 50 years behind the times. New occasions teach new duties, and we must go onward and upward. The great questions go on and the people move with them. There is more in this liquor contest than the mere closing of the dramshops. To me it means great questions go on and the people move with them. There is more in this liquor contest than the mere closing of the dramshops. To me it means the development of a grander manhood, and a purer and nobler womanhood, and a purer and nobler womanhood. We believe that revolution is evolution. We say to our opposers that they might as well accept the situation. They must be resigned, gracefully if they can, but they must be resigned for this revolution is going forward. We say to the politicians that they might as well accept the great truth and work. They are upholding customs and institutions at that are opposed to the healthful heartbeats of the Nation. Many of the old institutions upheld by the liquor traffic are going down to destruction.

"It looks that way to us women, and we see things generally clearer than men do. Do you wonder that 250,000 of the best Christian women are standing before the doors of the grog shops? Do you wonder that we are building these temperance temples? If you could know how bent on this work we are, you would know that you might just as well come first as last. You are beginning to see your own duty, and respond to the demand the women are making from your best manhood. Some one has said that every change in woman's condition is followed by a corresponding change in man's attitude. The old knight errantry will be replaced by a far nobler one, and you will help us put down the broadest wrong that heaven ever looked down upon with a chivalry that will be far nobler than the Arthurian chivalry. I believe there is good in all men—at least kome good. Man will come to the rescue because women and the little ones suffer—and suffer the most—by the liquor traffic.

"We rejoice at the advancement of woman in this land. The projection me because women and the little ones unfer—and suffer the most—by the iquor traffic.

"We rejoice at the advancement of woman in this land. The projection of this building tells to the men of his country plainer than ever before that woman can no longer be regarded as an angel floating in the ether, nor a an idot, but with strong head and nuscle, and clear ideas. That she is ust like her brother, fearfully and conderfully made—the latest improvement. Some people sympathize with Adam. But I believe he would ave done something far worse if Eve and let him slone much longer. Man as got into trouble with the liquor raffic. Now woman comes forward to let him out. I wish the day may be astened when she may be pernitted to speak with a still stronger coles for the protection of home. As today man and woman stand side y side to make that perfect union round the hearthstone called home, o I hope the larger man and larger coman may stand to make the future to speak with a still stronger coman may stand to make the future coma you Godspeed in your work, I congratulate you on your splendid build-Ing."

Rev. Charles W. Heisler made a brief congratulatory address on the successful completion of the temple. He said it seemed to him one of the wonders of the age, that women, unaided, and by their ownerforts, had accomplished so much. It will stand as a monument to them, own efforts, had accomplished so much. It will stand as a monument to them, and be a bulwork against intemperance in the city. The building, in its commanding position, looks down on the vilest dens in the city, and its location is where temperance sentiment can crystallize. He had faith in the movement because it is carried on by women.

This address was followed by a finely rendered solo by Mrs. J. H. Book, and then there were short addresses by Rev. J. L. Russell, Rev. R. J. Hutchins and Rev. R. S. Cantine. All commended the work and heartily congratulated the women on their success in pushing forward the work. congratulated the women on their suc-cess in pushing forward the work. The exercises were brought to a close by a collection, which was engineered by Dr. Cantine, and brought in about $500. The money is part of the sum necessary to furnish the W.C.T.U. rooms in the building.

REV. DR. FAY.

A Hard Worker Leaves for a Vaca tion.

Rev. Dr. Eli Fay, pastor of the Unitarian Church of this city, who is one of the hardest worked preachers in the United States, notwithstanding the fact that he is worth about $1,000,000, left for the East by the Santa Fé route yesterday at noon. Dr. Fay will spend several months visiting friends and relatives and will also attend to a large donation that he has made to his church for the purpose of establishing church for the purpose of establishing a college.

Yesterday, before leaving, the Doctor appeared before his congregation in Armory Hall, and as it was announced that he would preach his farewell sermon, his followers expected to hear something above the average. In this they were disappointed, for the reverend gentleman is something of a practical joker, and after he had led the singing and read a few verses from the Bible, he quietly announced that his time was up, for he wished to catch the east-bound train, and as his carriage was waiting at the foot of the stairs he would dismiss his lambs and depart. This he proceeded to do, and the farewell handshaking was not so numerous as it might have been. Several members of the congregation complained quite bitterly, and they were all disappointed.

TWO OF A KIND.

They Follow a Respectable Woman

Last night about 8:30 o'clock a nicely-dressed and respectable-looking woman came to the police station for otection and to ask that an officer scort her home. She said that a souple of men had been following her, and she wanted them arrested if they did not cease annoying her. Officer and she wanted them arrested if they did not cease annoying her. Officer Sheets volunteered to see the lady to her home on Los Angeles street, but the men could not be found, they having made themselves scarce when they saw her go toward the police station.

The "mashers" are again getting to be pretty numerous on the streets, and a short time ago the wife of a well-known citizen broke-her parasol over the head of a creature who followed her on the street. The corner of Temple and Spring streets is the worst place in the city, and the corner of Spring and First the next worst. Chief Burns will probably take the matter in hand, and during the week will detail several officers in plain clothes to patrol the principal streets and look after this class of offenders. The arrest and conviction of several of these men will do much toward breaking up the practice, especially if they are given long terms on the chain-gang.

Another Theatrical Man to Make

Mr. French, who is already wealthy, has made another fortune out of Fauntleroy. He has an fortune out of Fauntleroy. He has an income of over $5000 per week, is a member of 15 clubs in New York, besides clubs in 'Chicago and London, owns a steam yacht, and is generally a howling swell. It is Mr. French's intention to make his ranch at Fullerton his winter home, and he will immediately commence construction upon a commodious stable and send on his fine trotting stock in the fall. The order for plans for a $15,000 residence was given to S. I. Haar, the architect, Saturday, with instructions to rush out as soon as possible.

Mr. French, after looking over the field very carefully, says that no place offers the attractions equal to that of Southern California.

The Rape Case. Chamberlain, the man arrested Fri-Chamberlain, the man arrested Friday evening on a charge of having outraged little Mary L. Cole, is still in jail, and, although the charge against him has been changed from rape to indecent exposure, which makes it a misdemeanor in place of a felony, so far as known his bond of $10,000 has not been reduced. It is probable, however, that he will be brought before the Justice today for a preliminary hearing, when the case will take shape. The little girl was taken over to East Los Angeles by her father yesterday afternoon. Dr. Wells, who made the examination, says that she is not injured, and it is probable that his testimony will cut quite a figure in the trial.

Early yesterday morning a couple of boys went into the drug store under the Hoffman House, and while one of them diverted the clerk's attention the them diverted the clerk's attention the other made away with a pocket-knife. The boy was detected and brought back, when the knife was found in his passession. The druggist declined to have the boy arrested, saying that it was too small a matter, and gave him a severe lecture. He says that he has been greatly annoyed of late by petty thievery of this kind. The boys come into his place, and almost always pick up some small article and carry it away. He says that he knows them now, and the next time they are caught they will be handed over to an officer.

Change of Watch.

The change of watch of the police force for May has been posted, and shows that quite a number of beats are uncovered, because of the refusal of the Council to allow specials. As now laid out the beats are too long for one man to properly patrol, so that certain parts of the city will be left virtually without police protection.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Dog Pound Again. Los Angeles, April 28.—[To the Editor of The Times.] The people re-siding in the vicinity of the covered bridge wish by the favor of your paper to call the attention of our City Council to an intolerable nuisance which has lately been located a short distance above said bridge in the river bed and called a dog pound or den, but it would be more proper to call it a dog hell, where the poor creatures, regardless of age or sex, from the child's little pet poodle up to the agile greynound and trusty mastiff, are, after having been lassoed and dragged, often from their master's premises by a lot of men and hoodlum boys, who, for the want of something more respectable to do, and it might be said more honorable, bring them down to this den, where they are imprisoned and no doubt starved for the purpose of obtaining scalp money from their owners, should they chance to find their poor lost pups there. Now, the nuisance complained of is this: When the den becomes pretty well filled with the suffering canines, and they fully realize their deprivation of liberty, coupled with the forlorn hope of ever again being fed by the crumbs from their Master's tables, their desperation knows no bounds, and they set up such a yelping, howling, weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth that what should be the quiet hours of rest are made most hideous, and just at that time, too, to make it still more unbearable, every mother's son of a cur in the neighborhood will join in the chorus. Without any reference to Prof. Moeller's Science of Astrology, it is possible that many if not all the dogs in the city have come into existence under unfavorable planets—at least one might think so, judging from the dire calamity that seems to be awaiting them on every hand. But as time and circumstances are ever changing, it is most sincerely hoped that our City Council will take immediate steps to have the infernal dog pound eliminated from our midst, and if the dirty work of impounding and killing dogs has to be carried on in the city, let it be removed to a more secluded place.

A "Horror of Horrors."

Los Angeles, April 27.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Will you please LOS ANGELES, April 27.—170 the Editor of The Times.] Will you please inform your readers where they may find the "Horror of horrors?" Just a few yards above the covered bridge—in the river bed—is a small board hut called the dog pound, in charge of some wretch not fit to live. All the dogs that can be caught by foul means or fair are thrown into that hovel to starve a few days, and if no one comes to release them by paying a fee, they are killed, and sometimes buried in the river, poisoning the water for man and beast. Just now, as I write, many of the helpless captives are begging for food, water or air, and every hour, night and day, the heart-rending howling never ceases, and I wonder what kind of creatures those can be, called city fathers, and draw such a princely salary for looking after the interests of those who support them.

A Stranger in Hard Luck-Where Is He?

Some time ago a young man named Arthur Brail came to this city from Sta Louis, and put up at the New United States Hotel. He had two trunks, but did not seem to have much money, and, after remaining at the hotel some days, he got pretty hard up, and sold a fine overcoat for $1.50, which brought him to the attention of the police. Investigation, however, showed that the coat was his, and nothing more was thought about the case. A day or two ago one of the clerks called Detective Glass into the hotel, and asked him if he knew anything about Brail, as he had not been seen for some time. He said that Brail's two trunks were still at the hotel, one of which was apparently well filled, and some mail, which had not been called for. Some of Brail's friends think that he has been foully dealt with. Louis, and put up at the New United States Hotel. He had two trunks, but

DAYS JOURNEY TO WIL-SON'S PEAK.

An Observance of Washington's In augural-The Triumph of Venus

Local Budget. PASADENA, April 28 .- [Correspond ence of THE TIMES.] The sweltering heat of the sun in the valley during the warm summer months will be the means of driving a large portion of the populace to the seashore and mountains. Already the direction of the sun's rays is being rapidly felt, suffi-ciently enough to cause an exodus to a cooler atmosphere. During the present torride season, which has only just begun, the mountains are being anxiously watched and long trips to their shady retreats are daily under contemplation. The proposition to build an observatory on Wilson's Peak, with now only a grain of truth realized in that direcgrain of truth realized in that direc-tion, is already beginning to show signs of fruitage. During the past six weeks the work of construction has been going on, and in another week the public eye will be permitted to view the heavens through a 13-inch lens. The task of getting out the tim-bers in the forest has been by no means an easy one, as any one means an easy one, as any one well acquainted with the mountains in the vicinity of the peak well knows. At the highest point, or nearly so, the temporary observatory structure has been placed. The building is in the form of a square, covering about 400 square feet of surface. The height is about ten feet. Above is the dome, around which is laid the circular track to revolve the large instrument for different views of the heavenly bodies. The exterior is not made of boards, but the rough timbers are covered with heavy canvas. At one end of the building is a small aunex which will be used by the observers as a sleeping apartment. Everything will be in readiness within a week, and the public given certain hours during the day only to look through the large telescope. In the evening the astronomers will use the instrument in their investigations of the celestial bodies. As a large delegation of tourists, residents and others contemplate making the trip, a few suggestions here would not be out of place. The trail to the summit is about eight miles in length and the ascent can be made in about six heory, including an hour of rest at the "half-way house." The foot of the trail is a few hundred feet east of the residence of Mr. Carter at Sierra Madre. The California Central runs four trains daily, excepting Sundays, when two are run, to Santa Anita, which is the station to get out to commence the journey. Going north into the village of Sierra Madre, over a well-kept thoroughfare, the trip is continued for about a mile and a half to the base of the mountains. The ascent is now begun. If you have trusted your fate to a patient burro your lot will be much easier than to drag out your body and flesh in the mile, where the rise is nearly nine hundred feet. The last half is a most difficult plece of clambering; the trail is covered with rough stones, and one then begins to realize he is half way up, but only just beginning anew. Along the route streams of clear running water are seen occasionally, and the mighty roar of th to exhaust your strength and wear away your flesh in such a barbarous fashion. A new scene greets the eye on the summit, however, and after a good leng rest you swing to and fro in a hammock and say to yourself how happy these mortals be who from cares are ever free. You are toward Zion and are loth to turn back until business cares call you homeward. LOCAL BUDGET. The delinquent tax sale is complete and the unpaid property bought in by half a dozen speculators. The taxes

J. W. Hugus has purchased a lot of 25 feet frontage on South Fair Oaks avenue of Mrs. Buckley for $1875. The lot is located near Decker's stables.

The next meeting of the North Pasadena Literary Society will be held at the residence of E. Hough, on Garfield avenue. William Cullen Bryant is the author te be discussed.

A meeting of the owners of the Waukena tract in Tulare county, four-fitths of which is owned by home capitalists, was held in this city yesterday afternoon. It was decided to commence the erection of a schoolhouse and build a number of bridges over the creeks flowing through the new townsite. Business stores will open in the settlement within two weeks.

GLEANINGS AT HOME. The funeral services over the remains of the late C. C. Cheney will be held at the Methodist Church tomorrow after-

The secretary of the Lodge of Good Templars has issued a special notice to the effect that a picnic of that organization will be held at the Devil's Gate on Tuesday. Members are requested to board the 9:30 a.m. train on the Altadena Railroad, which stops at West Colorado street. Plenty of good water has been stored in the reservoirs for the occasion. A full attendance is requested.

VENUS TRIUMPHS.

The fairy operetta of The Triumph of Love, written by Mrs. Neumayer, was produced at the Grand Opera-house on produced at the Grand Cpera-house on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week under very successful anapices. The attendance was, however, only fair, which can only be accounted for in a lack of appreciation by a people who sapire to be critical in all branches of art, learning and science. The production of the play was the work of an entire local cast, who succeeded fairly well in getting away with a number of the heavy parts. The operatta, like many others, does not depend on the acting and singing of two or three performers, but a successful production requires dramatic skill and superlar acting from a dezen of its leading characters. Miss Sue Kramer, as "The Queen," has been heard here before in frequent entertainments, and portrayed the character as it should be. Her voice, like that of Mrs. W. B. Clapp as "Lova," is rich and sweet and shows caraful training. As "Lova," is rich and sweet and shows caraful training.

perells, valet to the Duke," W. B. Morehead showed considerable genius for an amateur, and his eccentricities frequently set the audience into convulsions. George H. Frost, as "Vice." did very well indeed, notwithstauding he played a very heavy part. His voice, too, shows cultivation. As "Robert, Duke of Burgundy," O. W. Kyle needs no mention; sufficient it is to say he never fails to captivate his audience. The Misses Peck, Frost, Arthur, Morehead, Frese and Dare are also deserving of praise for their fine singing. Lastly, but not least, Miss Beulah Arthur, as "Cupid." a tiny intant, completely captivated the audience. The whole cast indeed did well.

WASHINGTON'S INAUGURAL. The 100th anniversary of the inuguration of the first President of the united States will not be allowed to go unobserved in this city. A large number of people, however, have already made preparations to escape the heat by visits to the mountains and the romantic spots on Catalina Island. Enough will be left to celebrate the day as it deserves to be celebrated. The postoffice will be closed, and business suspended senerally. The general delivery window at the postoffice, however, will be opened for the public accommodation from 11 to 1 o'clock. The Board of Trade has set the day about for an observance of Arbor day, and with that object in view, has obtained over 2000 trees for free distribution and planting. The trees can be obtained at the office of the Park Nursery Company on application.

The following programme has been arranged for the centennial celebration at the tabernacle on Tuesday next:

WOMAN AND HOME.

THE CHARMS OF BEAUTIFUL WOMANHOOD.

the Beautiful, Cultivated Woman -Physical Culture-The Apollos and Hercules Versus the Hebes

I was at the Flower Festival on I was at the Flower Festiva; on riday evening, and it really aforded me great satisfaction to see the large number of elegantly dressed dies and young girls, just standing in the verge of lovely womanhood, ho were arrayed in sensible gowns and minus the distorting bustle. The enness-Miller reform idea has seized pon the ladies of Los Angeles, and many a lovely gown we see patterned any a lovely gown we see patterned ther those which she exhibited to her imiring audience when here. It is ot a mere fad that has taken hold pon our ladies, that will soon be laid ide for some new feminine notion for it appeals directly to woman's common sense. It says: Do not wear garments the great weight of which must be borne by the hips. Don't compress your lungs and all the vital organs of your frame with clothing that fetters and prevents a free and healthy action of those parts upon which a strong, well-developed physical womanhood depends. Give the lungs and heart room. Have your clothing so made and adjusted that your shoulders shall support its weight. Give every muscle full play, and don't let the corset or the skirtband push out of place the delicate viscers of your frame, inducing disease and suffering.

I am not given to fads, but I do believe that there is wide room for reform in matters of woman's dress. Woman has too long been a slave to folly and caprice in matters pertaining to her wardrobe. She has not had free use of her limbs, and she has so fettered herself that she does not even breathe as Nature intended her to. Wholly unlike man, her breathing is confined almost entirely to a chest movement; she has been so bound up that she could not well expand herself below that point, and there are hundreds of fashionable women today that are incapable of a deep-drawn natural respiration.

Physical culture is a science to which we should give more thoughtful attention. A beautiful, perfectly-developed woman is the most beautiful ling in God's wide creation. The Apollos and Hercules of the race cannot compare in attractive charms with the blushing Hebes and the proud and beautiful Junos. The loves of the angels were not men, but women, angelic in their beauty. For them the recreant angels were willing to forego all the delights of Paradise, and there is no other such power in the created universe today as beauty. Men worship it and are swayed by it, controlled and influenced by it to an almost unlimited extent. And there are hundreds of women who might possess it who have it not. Proper diet and proper exercise would give them the needed physical development, brilliancy of complexion and general contour whi be a grand thing if, when the archangel's trumpet sounds, we find that our sepulchre, like the one Joseph of Arimathea provided for Christ, is in the midst of a garden. AN ILLUSTRATION FULL OF SUGGEST-the midst of a garden.

AN ILLUSTRATION FULL OF SUGGEST-IVENESS.

One of the seven wonders of the world was the white marble watch tower of Pharos of Egypt. Sostratus, the architect and sculptor, after building that watch tower cut his name on it. Then he covered it with plastering, and to please the king he put the monarch's name on the outside of the plastering; and the storms beat, and the seas dashed in their fury, and they washed off the plastering, and they washed it out, and washed it down, but the name of Sostratus was deep cut in the imperishable rock. So across the face of this Nation there have been a great many names written, across our finances, across our religious, names worthy of remembrance, names written on the architecture of our churches, and our schools, and our asylums, and our homes of mercy, but God is the architecture of this continent, and he was the sculptor of all its grandeurs, and long after, through the wash of the ages and the tempests of centuries, all other names shall be obliterated, the divine signature and the divine name will be brighter and brighter as the milienniums go by, and the world shall see that the God who made this continent has redeemed it by His grace from all its sorrows and from all its crimes.

Have you faith in such a thing as from all its sorrows and from all its crimes.

Have you faith in such a thing as that? After all the chariots have been unwheeled, and after all the war charges have been crippled, the chariots which Elisha saw on the morning of his peril will roll on in triumph, followed by all the armies of heaven on white horses. God could do it without us, but he will not. The weakest of us, the smallest brained of us, shall have a part in the triumph. We may not have our name, like the name of Sostratus, cut in imperishable rock and conspicuous for centuries, but we shall be remembered in a better place than that, even in the heart of Him who came to redeem us and redeem the world, and our names will be seen close to the signature of His wound for as today he throws out His arms toward us he says: "Behold, I have graven thee on the palms of my hand." By the mightlest of all agencies, the potency of prayer, I beg you seek our national welfare.

Some time ago there were 4.600,000 letters in the dead letter postoffice at Washington—letters that lost their way—but not one prayer ever directed to the heart of God miscarried. The way is all clear for the ascent of your supplications heavenward in behalf of this the heart of God miscarried. The way is all clear for the ascent of your supplications heavenward in behalf of this Nation. Before the postal communication was so easy, and long ago, on a rock 100 feet high on the coast of England, there was a barrel fastened to a post, and in great letters on the side of the rock, so it could be seen far out at sea, was the word "Postoffice;" and when ships came by a boat put out to sea, was the word "Postoffice;" and when ships came by a boat put out to take and fetch letters. And so sacred were those deposits of affection in that barrel that no lock was ever put upon that barrel, although it contained messages for America, and Europe, and Asia, and Africa, and all the islands of the sea. Many a storm tossed sailor, homesick, got message of kindness by that rock, and many a homestead heard good news from a boylong gone. Would that all the heights of our national prosperity were in interchange of sympathies—prayers going up meeting blessings coming down! Postal celestial, not by a storm struck rock on a wintry coast, but by the Rock of Ages.

Is used more throughout the United States than any machine made. It will evaporate more truit or the amount of tray surface with less labor than any other machine. Therefore it is the most economical and cheapest. Hundreds of them are in use throughout the Northern States for apples, while in the peach district in the Southern States there are ten to one of any other machine made. They are pronounced by those who use them, and have need others in connection, to be the only was pronounced by those who use them, and have used others in connection, to be the only practical machine. Last year, 1838, seven were bought by different parties in Ventura county, this State, the same parties owning machines, gave preference to the Will ams, as others have cone before them. I have a carload of these machines on hand now, but as there are several parties about purchasing now, as there will be more orders than I have machines now to fill, some orders will have to be filled at the factory, therefore send in your orders early. SIX DAYS

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Tomorrow is a legal holiday, and all the courts will be closed.

All of the banks and principal business places will be closed tomorrow.

The streets were almost deserted yesterday afternoon, almost every one having gene down to the beach.

having gene down to the beach.

Three or four drunks corralled and a lest child recovered was all that was done by the police force yesterday.

The streets are aadly in need of sprinkling carts. The dust is three inches deep in some parts of the city.

There was not a single arrival at the County Jail yesterday. At 7 o'clock last evening there were 95 prisoners in the tanks.

The Council will meet this morning at 10 o'clock, and a red-hot time is anticipated, as several matters of im-portance are to come up.

There was nothing new in the gambling situation yesterday, nor will there be until after the meeting of the Police Commission on Wednesday.

The regular weekly meeting of the Social Purity League of Los Angeles will be held this afternoon at 2:30 in the parlor of the Fort-street M. E. Church.

A good crowd attended the Y.M.C.A. entertainment at the Opera-house Hall yesterday. An excellent programme was carried out by members of the association.

A patriotic service, celebrating the one-hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of the United States, will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The ladies who had charge of the Flower Festival are completely worn out. They worked night and day during the best part of three weeks, and now their husbands will have to nurse them back to health and bloom.

So far no steps have been taken by

So far no steps have been taken by the City Council toward providing a receiving hospital, and injured persons still have to be treated in the big drunk cell at the station, sometimes having to remain there two or three days be-fore they can be moved.

to remain there two or three days before they can be moved.

Emma Lorette, the insane woman at the County Jail, was very violent all Saturday night, and kept the jailers up most of the night. She quieted down during the day, but toward night she again became very restless. It is believed that her case is hypeless.

The Olympic Base-ball Club is out with a challenge to any club whose members are not over 17 years of age. The Olympics are: Lee Youngworth, c.; J. Moore, p.; F. Holmes, first base; E. Bailey, second base; J. Guercio, third base; Tony Mown, s. s.; Otto, l. f.; G. Hupp, r. f.; C. Finly, c. f.

Dr. Bead occupied his pulpit in the First Baptist Church yesterday morning for the first time in three weeks. Dr. Read has mapped out a series of short sermons for the summer months, which will be very entertaining. The subjects will be announced from time to time. Op next Sunday evening, instead of the regular service, a praise ervice will be given. The regular male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Nay, Sigler, Williams and Lowe, will be assisted by ladies. Mrs. Oglivic has charge of the music, and her connection with it is a sufficient guarantee of its success.

its success.
Yesterday afternoon, about 3:30 O'clock, a small frame stable in the rear of S. S. Watson's residence, at No. 139
Regent street, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $200, which was fully covered by insurance. None of the family were at home when the fire broke out, having gone for a ride, which probably saved the borse and carriage. There was no fire about the building, and it is supposed that it was started by some boys dropping a cigarette in the hay in the loft, as a number of them were there in the morning. The prompt action of the fire department saved the adjoining property.

ARE THEY CHUMP

Queer Economy on the Part of the Conneil.

Economy is a good thing in its way, both in private affairs and public business, but there is such a thing as run ning it in the ground, and by a penny wise and pound foolish policy making the thing ridiculous. An example in point is the action of the City Council in refusing to pay a telephone bill for $2.50, which has had the effect of cutting off the police department from outside communication and thereby crippling its efficiency. $2.50, which has had the effect of cutting off the police department from outside communication and thereby crippling its efficiency. Last Friday night about 10 o'clock it was learned that a couple of men who were wanted had gone to Pasadena, and the Sunset Telephone office was rung up by the Chief of Police and asked to connect his office with Pasadena. The word came back that orders had been issued not to connect No. 30, police head-quarter, with any outside towns, as the city would not pay the bill, and that there was an account of $2.50 standing out since the last month which had not been liquidated. By the time word eguld be got out the next morning it was too late, the men having got out of the way, and have not since been heard from. Yesterday afternoon it was reported at the station that there was a dead horse on South Main street. O'Farrell, who has the contract for removing dead animals, has a telephone to fits place, which is, however, three miles outside the city limits. Sunset was asked to connect, but the request was politely refused, and the horse was not taken away. The station has telephone communication inside the city limits, but all outside is shut against them.

Another thing that cripples the department is the refusal of the Council to allow any money for secret service or contingent expenses, notwithstanding it has been repeatedly recommended by the Police Commissioners. Under former administrations it has been consonary to place money, $100 at a time, to the credit of the Chief, to be used in case of emergency, but this has so far been refused by the present Council, and the department is absolutely without funds to even send a telegram or pay for postage stamps, unless the same is paid by the officials. Chief Burns spent about $150 out of his own pocket during his first month in office, and several of the other officials are out sums ranging from 50 cents to $5 for legitimate expenses in the discharge of their duties. This money will probably be refunded when demanded on presentation, b

Hotel del Coronado.

Bummer, with its torrid heat and depressing lassitude, is again upon us, causing a offervating effect upon both mind and body. To counteract these climatic excesses, build up the nervous system, seek the pure, bracing air of the mountains or the squally pure, lung-expanding and life-prolonsing see breczes of the old Pacific. Be one of the many to participate in the next excursion to the Hotel del Coronado. Once there, you can laugh at the past excessive heat. The hot, burning sun no longer paralyzes your every effort-requiring action. The ever-welcome and ever-present see breezes; the dry, bracing atmosphere; the pure and salubrious water supplied as a beverage to all guests of the hotel, form a compound of Nature's cholossiblessings, which soon make a man forgot all the ills that fiesh is heir to, and be feels like a new creature ere the week of his sojourn is over. These are plain facts which you would do well to ponder over and prove by joining the next excursion, Saturday, May 4th, at 10 a.m., from the First-street depot.

CAN BE CURED.

Mr. J. H. Shore-Dear Sir: Yours of the Eth at hand. Yes. Dr. Frances Olmstead has cured me, and indeed it was a miracle, for I was considered past all help by all physicians who examined my face. I was a most borrible sight, the left cheek being entirely eaten away to a depth of two inches, cheek bone entrely destroyed, nose half-eaten of, nasel bone gone. The treatment is less painful than any other I have undergone the past fourteen years. Have beed treated by many of the most eminent physicians, amongst them Mrs. Dr. Cook of San Francisco. Under her care eight months. Was in different cancer hospitals in New York. Dr. Olmstead cured me in three months. Rev. Mr. Wilson, Ety. Mr. Lewis and many prominent clitisens of Serced can testify to the above facts. See the Doctor immediately. I know she can cure you. Yours truly, W. C. JEMKS.
J. H. Shore is now under Dr. elimitsead's care. Lower faw almost entirely eaten away. Improving rapidly. Any one having cancer can see him at the Doctor's office, 347 South Spring street, rooms 20 and 21, at 9 a.m. and 1 and 5 p.m.
